

To Whom It May Concern:

As a well-known payment service provider in China, BilltoBill provides comprehensive, outsourced payment services to merchants in China and the global market.

In 2008 our company chose atsec information security to assess BilltoBill's compliance to the Payment Card Industry Data Security Standard (PCI DSS). We selected atsec for the PCI DSS project because we were convinced by their knowledge, qualification and their professional project management. atsec's international outlook, their independence from vendors or investors and their focused commitment to IT security were also considered.

Working with atsec has shown us their deep understanding of the many facets of IT security standards - in technological as well as organisational matters.

It has been a pleasure to work with atsec and we will continue working with them to maintain our network and data security.
